PARTNER
Personal Interactive Communicator

Model P900
FLEX™ Technology

Introduction

Congratulations on your purchase of the Partner P900 Personal Interactive Communicator. Whether receiving or sending messages, the Partner P900 Personal Interactive Communicator can become a vital part of your business and personal life and change the way you communicate with family, friends, and business associates.

This guide explains how to use your new communicator and provides helpful suggestions for first-time, as well as experienced users.

A detachable quick-reference card is included for your convenience.

Effective Use of Your Communicator

With this communicator, you can send wireless messages to internet e-mail addresses and other communicator devices, yet it is small enough to comfortably wear on your belt or fit in a pocket. By supplying business associates, family members, and friends with your wireless address information, you can be contacted whenever needed.

Safety and General Information

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ON SAFE AND EFFICIENT OPERATION.

READ THIS INFORMATION BEFORE USING YOUR PERSONAL INTERACTIVE COMMUNICATOR.

The information provided in this document supersedes the general safety information contained in user guides published prior to July 2000. For information regarding radio use in a hazardous atmosphere please refer to the Factory Mutual (FM) Approval Manual Supplement or Instruction Card, which is included with radio models that offer this capability.

RF Operational Characteristics

Your Personal Interactive Communicator contains a transmitter and a receiver. When it is ON, it receives and transmits radio frequency (RF) energy. The Personal Interactive Communicator operates in the frequency range of 896 MHz to 941 MHz and employs digital modulation techniques.

When you communicate with your Personal Interactive Communicator, the output power level is 1.0 watt.

Exposure to Radio Frequency Energy

Your Unication Personal Interactive Communicator is designed to comply with the following national and international standards and guidelines regarding exposure of human beings to radio frequency electromagnetic energy:

- United States Federal Communications Commission, Code of Federal Regulations; 47 CFR part 2 sub-part J.
- American National Standards Institute (ANSI) / Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers (IEEE) C95. 1-1992.
- Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers (IEEE) C95.1-1999 Edition.
- National Council on Radiation Protection and Measurements (NCRP) of the United States, Report 86, 1986.
- International Commission on Non-Ionizing Radiation Protection (ICNIRP) 1998.
- Ministry of Health (Canada) Safety Code 6. Limits of Human Exposure to Radiofrequency Electromagnetic Fields in the Frequency Range from 3 kHz to 300 GHz, 1999.

- Australian Communications Authority Radiocommunications (Electromagnetic Radiation - Human Exposure) Standard 1999 (applicable to wireless phones only).

To assure optimal Personal Interactive Communicator performance and make sure human exposure to radio frequency electromagnetic energy is within the guidelines set forth in the above standards, always adhere to the following procedures:

Portable Personal Interactive Communicator Operation and EME Exposure

Body-worn Operation

To maintain compliance with FCC/Health Canada RF exposure guidelines, if you wear a Personal Interactive Communicator on your body when transmitting, always place the Personal Interactive Communicator in a Unication supplied or approved clip, holder, holster, case, or body harness. Use of non-Unication-approved accessories may exceed FCC/Health Canada RF exposure guidelines. If you do not use a body- worn accessory, ensure the device is at least one inch (2.5 cm) from your body when transmitting.

Approved Accessories

For a list of approved Unication accessories call +886-2-22999678 or visit our website at www.uni.com.tw

Electromagnetic Interference/Compatibility

NOTE: Nearly every electronic device is susceptible to electromagnetic interference (EMI) if inadequately shielded, designed or otherwise configured for electromagnetic compatibility.

- FACILITIES

  To avoid electromagnetic interference and/or compatibility conflicts, turn off your Personal Interactive Communicator in any facility where posted notices instruct you to do so. Hospitals or health care facilities may be using equipment that is sensitive to external RF energy.

- AIRCRAFT

  When instructed to do so, turn off your Personal Interactive Communicator when on board an aircraft. Any use of a Personal Interactive Communicator must be in accordance with applicable regulations per airline crew instructions.

- MEDICAL DEVICES
  Pacemakers
  The Advanced Medical Technology Association recommends that a minimum separation of 6 inches (15 centimeters) be maintained between a handheld wireless Personal Interactive Communicator and a pacemaker. These recommendations are consistent with the independent research by, and recommendations of, the United States Food and Drug Administration.
  Persons with pacemakers should:
  - ALWAYS keep the Personal Interactive Communicator more than six inches (15 centimeters) from their pacemaker when the Personal Interactive Communicator is turned ON.
  - not carry the Personal Interactive Communicator in the breast pocket.
  - use the ear opposite the pacemaker to minimize the potential for interference.

- turn the Personal Interactive Communicator OFF immediately if you have any reason to suspect that interference is taking place.

Hearing Aids

Some digital wireless Personal Interactive Communicators may interfere with some hearing aids. In the event of such interference, you may want to consult your hearing aid manufacturer to discuss alternatives.

Other Medical Devices

If you use any other personal medical device, consult the manufacturer of your device to determine if it is adequately shielded from RF energy. Your physician may be able to assist you in obtaining this information.

Safety and General

- USE WHILE DRIVING

Check the laws and regulations on the use of a Personal Interactive Communicator in the area where you drive. Always obey them.

When using your Personal Interactive Communicator while driving, please:

- give full attention to driving and to the road.
- use hands-free operation, if available.
- pull off the road and park before making or answering a call if driving conditions so require.

Operational Warnings

- FOR VEHICLES WITH AN AIR BAG

  Do not place a portable Personal Interactive Communicator in the area over an air bag or in the air bag deployment area. Air bags inflate with great force. If a portable Personal Interactive Communicator is placed in the air bag deployment area and the air bag inflates, the Personal Interactive Communicator may be propelled with great force and cause serious injury to occupants of the vehicle.

- POTENTIALLY EXPLOSIVE ATMOSPHERES

  Turn off your Personal Interactive Communicator prior to entering any area with a potentially explosive atmosphere, unless it is a Personal Interactive Communicator type especially qualified for use in such areas as "Intrinsically Safe". Do not remove, install, or charge batteries in such areas. Sparks in a potentially explosive atmosphere can cause an explosion or fire resulting in bodily injury or even death.

  NOTE: The areas with potentially explosive atmospheres referred to above include fueling areas such as below decks on boats, fuel or chemical transfer or storage facilities, areas where the air contains chemicals or particles, such as grain, dust or metal powders, and any other area where you would normally be advised to turn off your vehicle engine. Areas with potentially explosive atmospheres are often but not always posted.

- BLASTING CAPS AND AREAS
  To avoid possible interference with blasting operations, turn off your Personal Interactive Communicator when you are near electrical blasting caps, in a blasting area, or in areas posted: "Turn off two-way radio". Obey all signs and instructions.

Operational Cautions

- BATTERIES
  All batteries can cause property damage and/or bodily injury such as burns if a conductive material such as jewelry, keys, or beaded chains touch exposed terminals. The conductive material may complete an electrical circuit (short circuit) and become quite hot. Exercise care in handling any charged battery, particularly when placing it inside a pocket, purse, or other container with metal objects.

Getting Started
Battery Information

Your communicator uses one AA-size alkaline battery (do not use carbon-zinc batteries), which also recharges the internal transmit power source.

Two AA-size batteries are included with your communicator. One is installed. Check the battery gauge in the Vital Signs menu and replace the installed battery as needed.

If 🔋 is displayed on the Status screen, the AA-battery is low. If 🔋 begins flashing, your communicator is about to shut down due to low battery power. While 🔋 is flashing, you cannot receive or transmit messages, but you can still read unread messages and your address book entries.

Note: This product contains a Nickel-Cadmium (NiCd) rechargeable battery that must be recycled or disposed of properly. Recycling facilities may not be available in all areas.

⬤ or ⬤	⇤ Transmitter Off	⏎ ENTER
⬤ or ⬤	O Yes or O No	⏎ ENTER

Messaging Service Instructions

To begin messaging service, contact your service provider for instructions. The phone number of the messaging service can be found in the literature provided by the service provider.

Sending a Test Message to Yourself

After you activate your service, you should test your communicator and service by sending a message to yourself. Use the telephone number, web site, or e-mail address (and a wireless address) provided by your service provider. If you are using a phone to send a word message, an operator will help; otherwise, enter a numeric message or type one and send it.

While waiting for the message to reach your communicator, refer to "Reading Messages" on page 43. If your communicator does not receive the message within a few minutes, contact your service provider.

After you have tested the communicator, read the rest of this guide to learn about other features.

Backlight

In low-light conditions, press and hold 🔆 to turn on the backlight. The backlight remains illuminated until the communicator times out and returns to the Standby screen. To manually turn the backlight off, press and hold 🔆.

	MESSAGE TRANSMITTING
MailBox

The MailBox receives incoming messages transmitted to your communicator. The MailBox allows you to read, save, respond, forward, and delete messages. It provides a transmission status log for messages sent and acts as a holding area for unsent messages, which are categorized into the following types:

- Sending in Progress (Flashing)
- Sent Successfully
- × Send Message Failed
- Send Message Failed Due to NiCd Charging

Previewing and Reading Messages

- When you receive a personal or information service message, the Status screen is displayed and an alert is given according to your settings. A flashing ▣ (MailBox) or ⅈ (News/Info) indicates which type of message has been received.

- To stop an alert, press the side button or open the flip. The Ⓜ on the Standby screen and ▣ or ⅈ on the Main menu flash until you have read all received MailBox or News/Info service messages.

  Note: If reminder alerts is active, the communicator periodically generates the selected alert to remind you of any unread MailBox messages.

- When the main message memory is full, MEMORY FULL is displayed on the Status screen. When memory is full, the oldest messages (read first, then unread) are automatically deleted to make room for new messages.

- If turned on, the third line of the Status screen displays text messages that indicate carrier-specific service modes. Refer to your service provider literature.
- If programmed ⊤ displays whenever you are out of your coverage area. Upon returning to your coverage area, ⊤⊤ no longer displays on the Status screen.
- If your communicator is configured to save messages received with errors, UPDATED is displayed at the beginning of a message, which indicates the message has been retransmitted to correct previously received errors.

You can also create Sub-InBoxes to organize your messages by topic. You can set the history for each Sub-InBox, move them within the list, and delete them.

Creating a Sub-InBox

Within the News/Info InBox, you can create up to 16 Sub-InBoxes to organize the incoming messages. A message under 04: Sports Update, for example, creates the Sub-InBox, ⊟ * Sports Update *. Once created, the new InBox will receive all the messages that arrive under that topic.

Press	To Display	Then Press
● or ●	i News/Info InBox	⏎ ENTER
● or ●	Highlight the message with the same name as the InBox you wish to create	MENU / SPACE
● or ●	⊟ Create InBox	⏎ ENTER

Setting the InBox History

After creating a new Sub-InBox, you can specify how many messages it will store for you. This is the InBox History. You can specify up to eight history messages to be stored. If you only wish to see the latest message, set it to "No History." When the Sub-InBox has no history, every new message overwrites the previous one.

Press	To Display	Then Press
● or ●	i News/Info InBox	↵ ENTER
● or ●	Highlight the desired Sub-InBox	SYMBOL MENU / SPACE
● or ●	⊟ⁿ Set InBox History	↵ ENTER

MyMail

MyMail Desktop and Desktop Plus are computer-based software applications that act like a remote control for your personal computer (PC) email, giving you the freedom to manage your messages from any location. MyMail Desktop and Desktop Plus eliminate the need for separate PC and wireless email addresses. They allow you to compose, read, reply to, and forward email messages as if they were sent from your PC email application. Using one email address, you can receive email messages both in your PC mailbox and on your wireless device.

This feature is dependent on the purchase of a separate software application that can be purchased from a 3rd party carrier.

Once you purchase the software and install it on your PC, the following steps activate MyMail in your Partner P900 pager.

FCC Compliance

This device complies with part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions: (1) This device may not cause harmful interference, and (2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation.

This equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits for a Class B digital device, pursuant to part 15 of the FCC Rules. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference in a residential installation. This equipment generates, uses and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to radio communications. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation.

If this equipment does cause harmful interference to radio or television reception, which can be determined by turning the equipment off and on, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one or more of the following measures:

- Reorient or relocate the receiving antenna.
- Increase the separation between the equipment and receiver.
- Connect the equipment into an outlet on a circuit different from that which the receiver is connected.
- Consult the dealer or an experienced radio/TV technician for help.
